STATISTICS ON CLUB PAGES: The statistics on the club pages in this album fall into two main categories. For each player, there is a career list of all his League appearances and League goals up to the end of the 1992-93 season, showing (in order) the season, club, division, appearances (including as a substitute) and goals. Then we get onto the REALLY interesting stuff! Last season's statistics are shown in a detail never before seen in a sticker collection in this country. For each player we show the number of starts he made in League games in 1992-93, followed by the number of appearances as a substitute and the total number of League goals scored. Then the goals are broken down as follows (the words in brackets correspond to the column headings): goals scored from inside the penalty area (Area), from outside the penalty area (Out), with the left foot (L Foot), with the right foot (R Foot), by header (Head), from a penalty (Pen), those scored from a dead ball (DBall) or from open play (Open). Then we list the number of goal assists credited to each player from dead balls (DBall) and open play (Open). Please note that in some cases, especially where a player was not in a Premier League club during 1992-93, these details were not available.

These statistics are copyright ©1993 Andrew Clark/SportStats and may not be reproduced in whole or in part without permission. All Rights Reserved.

Editor's note. The final date for compiling this album was November 2 1993, and all reasonable efforts were made to ensure that the data was accurate at that time. Player transfers and/or managerial changes in FA Premier League member clubs after that date were, of course, beyond our control.

introduction to the

FIRST EDITION

by Andy Gray

Two years ago, the face of English football was changed forever by the creation of the F.A. Premier League.

Not surprisingly, such a change in the traditional structure of League football was bound to provoke comment and excitement. There was intense discussion by football fans the length and breadth of the country, and no shortage of controversy. Happily, in the season and a half since the Premier League kicked off, the most exciting thing of all has been the quality of football inspired by the new competition, now known as the F.A. Carling Premiership.

A clean break with the past, a new competition, has proved the catalyst for further innovations in the English game. Today we can enjoy a new form of live TV coverage in the shape of Sky's fresh approach, in which yours truly is proud to play a part. Now, here in your hands you have the very latest product of this new football world; the very first, inaugural edition of Merlin's Premier League football sticker collection.

This wonderful collection does for football collectables what the Premier League itself did for football as a whole. It, too, breaks with tired, old conventions. Merlin has concocted a brew taking in the very best of Premier League football to give you stunning graphics, brilliant pictures, player statistics researched in mouth-watering detail, innovatory features - a package guaranteed to grab the attention of any football fan.

Collectors of this first edition will be taking advantage of an opportunity which comes along only very rarely, the chance to build a collection which will be the very first of a new tradition, and which will be looked upon in years to come as truly a landmark in football collections. As the saying goes, it's a whole new ball game. Enjoy it!

FIXTURES AND RESULTS CHART ▲

The chart on this page gives all the Premier League fixtures for the 1993-94 season. Simply read down the column headed "HOME TEAM" until you reach the appropriate team, then read along that row until you reach the column headed with the name of the away team. In the box where the HOME TEAM and the AWAY TEAM intersect you will find the date for that fixture, with enough space for you to fill in the result. We have filled in all the results known at the time of going to press. Please also note that fixtures are subject to change as the season progresses, so if you are considering going to a match, please check with the home club or your newspaper to make sure that the fixture is still on. These fixtures are copyright ©1993 The FA Premier League and may not be reproduced in whole or in part without their express written permission.

PREMIERSHIP PROGRESS CHART ►

This is a new idea from Merlin. As each team in the Premier League wins points, simply shade in the columns (we've already done some of the work for you to give you the idea) and watch the leadership race unfold as the season goes along!

fabulous... FOOTBALLING

There are seven days of soccer on Sky each week, starting with Anna Walker and John Salako's 'Goals on Sunday' on a Sunday morning. 'Super Sunday' is in the afternoon, 'Monday Night Football' on the following day, the 'Footballers Football Show' and 'The Boss' on Tuesday evenings, 'World Soccer' on Wednesday, 'Andy Gray's Boot Room' on Thursday, 'Sky Soccer Weekend' on Friday, with result and reports throughout 'Sports Saturday', and 'German league football' on Saturday evenings.

'Goals on Sunday' presenters Anna Walker and John Salako.

*Last season Sky Sports showed 101 live games, including 60 from the Premier League, 16 from the FA Cup, and England internationals at full, U-21, Under-18 and women's levels.

*This year Sky Sports has already covered clubs competing in the FA Cup and each of the top five divisions live from the Vauxhall Conference to the FA Premiership.

*Every club in the FA Premiership was seen live on Sky Sports before the end of November.

*Over the last twelve months presenter Richard Keys has driven more than 60,000 miles in the last year to present Sky's coverage from more than forty different grounds.

*Ian Darke and Martin Tyler each commented on more than forty matches. That's the same as talking non-stop for three whole days.

*When it comes to soccer, Sky Sports has it covered. Over the last year they have shown more than 100 live football matches and made a different football programme for every day of the week.

*So how does a live football match reach our homes? Of course, every game and every ground is different but a Monday Night Football match, like the one shown on these pages, would involve more than 65 people, 15 cameras, 10 kilometres of cables and months of organising.

*After the fixture list has been drawn up by the Football Association, Sky Sports pick their live games, in discussion with the FA Premier League, the clubs and local police. In the month before the match the production team visit the ground to discuss electricity supplies, safety requirements and camera positions with the club.

*Two days before the game a team of technicians start to plug in the ten kilometres of cable which will provide power to the cameras and take pictures back to the production trucks. Back at Sky's HQ in west London the team are editing the highlights which will introduce the show. By lunchtime on the day of the match the full production crew of 65 are at the ground, ready for a full technical check-up and an afternoon of rehearsals.

*Premier League matches on Sky are covered by 15 different cameras including 'mini-cams' about the size of a packet of Polo's inside the goal-nets, which can catch the expression on a goal-scorer's face, a 'steadi-cam' strapped to the front of a super-fit cameraman running up and down, the touchline, a camera on a crane 70 metres over the ground, and another 10 cameras placed all around the ground, at pitch level and in the roof of the stands.

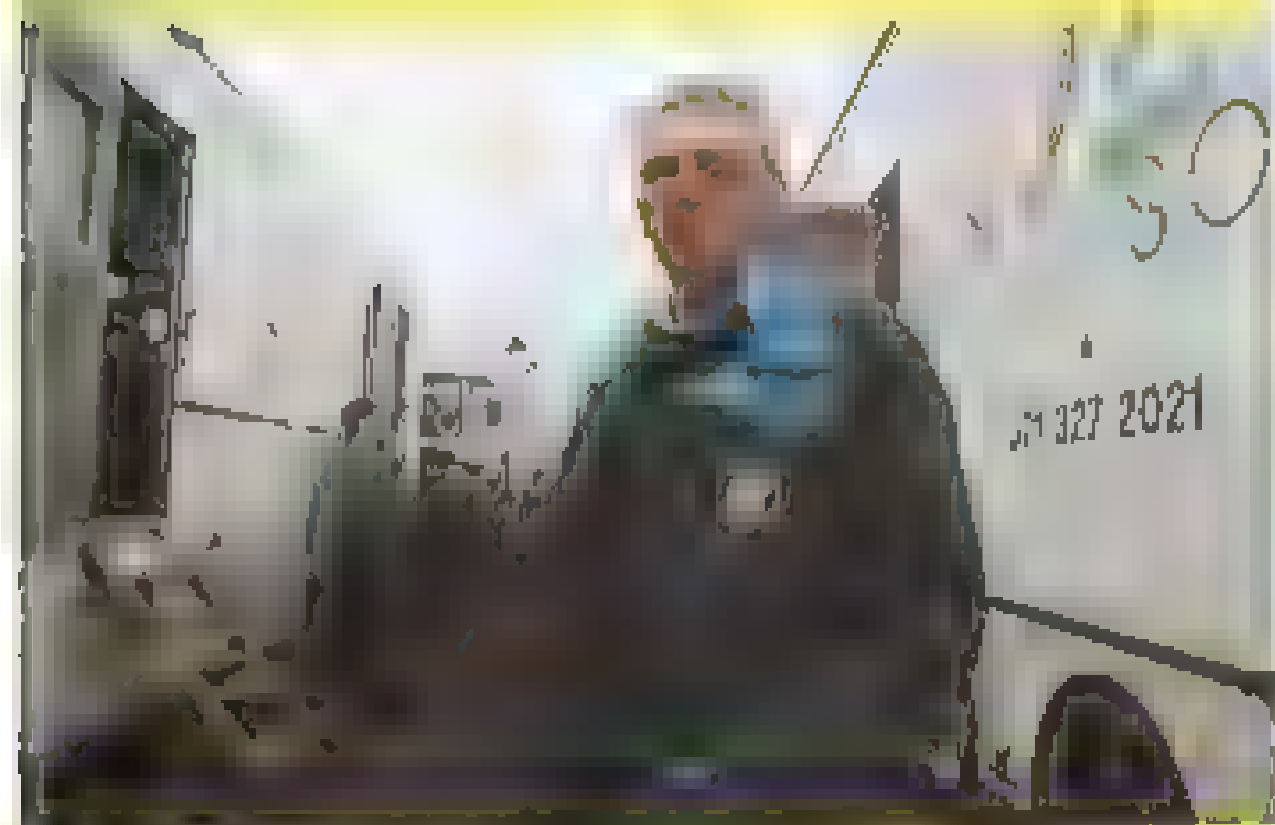

The 'steadi-cam' - one of 15 cameras at a Sky Sports game.

'Andy Gray's Boot Room' tactical talk on Thursday night.

FACTS ABOUT SKY

*The cameras are linked to a self-contained TV centre in a fleet of four trucks, parked behind the stands. These travel to every live game and carry everything needed to produce the programme - graphic machines, banks of videos, hundreds of TV monitors and two power generators.

A production manager with the outside broadcast trucks

*The nerve centre of the whole operation is the 'presentation scanner' where the producer controls the build-up to the match and Richard Keys comments in the studio. Next door, a director in the 'match scanner' controls the cameras and commentary during the match, deciding which cameras will give you the best view, during every second of the game. In the 'VTR scanner' a team of technicians record the key incidents throughout the match on eight video machines, ready to use for replays. The fourth vehicle is a British Telecom 'links truck' which beams the pictures out from the ground.

The production area or "Gallery"

*Once the picture has left the production area, the signal has another 50,000 miles to travel before it reaches your home - that's seventy times the distance from Land's End to John O' Groats. From the 'links truck' the signal is sent to Sky's West London HQ, via the Telecom Tower in the heart of London, then up to the Astra satellite 23,500 miles above the earth. It then bounces straight back to your home satellite dish or local cable company and onto your own TV set. This all happens in less than a quarter of a second as the signal can travel 186,000 miles every second.

*Richard Keys - known as "Ra noow" by the rest of the Sky Sports team because he wears a different trendy brightly-coloured jacket at every game - watches the match from a studio that overlooks the pitch. He is joined by an expert guest who will comment on the game before the match, after the match and at half-time.

Richard Keys is joined by a special guest, West Ham striker Clive Allen

*Andy Gray sits in another area of the ground, in a 'gantry' high up in a stand where he can get a good view of the game. On Sunday afternoons Andy - who played for Glasgow Rangers, Wolves, Everton and Aston Villa, and won 22 Scottish caps - is joined by Martin Tyler in the commentary box. But for Monday Night Football matches, commentator Ian Darke is always alongside him.

Reporter Nick Collins brings news from the tunnel and touchline

*Down on the touchline, reporter Nick Collins gives the news and stories from the tunnel and dug-out and tries to talk to a manager or the man-of-the-match after the game. And outside the ground, another Sky reporter asks the fans for their views before and after the match.

*Soon after the game has finished technicians are pulling cables from the back of the trucks and winding up the week's hard work. Whilst it takes weeks to prepare for the match, removing the equipment can take as little as an hour-and-a-half. Some of the trucks will stay at the ground to film the 'Footballers Football Show' on the following day, but most of the team can now go home for some well-earned rest and sleep. ■
